

Ingram Micro, Inc. Hosts Career Event for High School Students

At Business Alliance member company Ingram Micro, associates recently donated their time and know-how to teach students how to plan for successful careers. The corporate community relations department hosted 40 local Santa Ana high school students and their mentors in March at its company headquarters, for the Santa Ana Unified School District's "Career Beginnings" program. Ingram Micro helps by donating $5,000 each year and hosting an annual dinner event with presentations on resume building and interviewing skills to help the students put their best foot forward.

Career Beginnings is a two-year program for at-risk 11th- and 12th-graders in the Santa Ana Unified School District that is designed to enhance success in school and the workforce.

For more than eight years Ingram Micro has partnered with Career Beginnings to host an evening of dinner and helpful presentations on topics such as "Résumé Building and Interviewing Skills" to better equip students with skill sets essential to successfully move on to the next level of their educational/career goals.

In addition to the dinner and presentations, Ingram Micro makes a $5,000 contribution to the organization each year.
